KSMoCA International Art Fair

KSMoCA presents the KSMoCA International Art Fair in partnership with Converge 45. Portland, OR.

August 1, 2017 (Portland, OR)- King School Museum of Contemporary Art (KSMoCA), a contemporary art museum inside a functioning K-8 public school in NE Portland, is pleased to announce the KSMoCA International Art Fair. 17 nationally and internationally recognized exhibitors will display original artwork by dozens of contemporary artists. Visitors can find works ranging from experimental publications by young artists to museum-quality objects. Exhibitions throughout the fair include paintings, sculptures, installations, photography, social practice, comics, and new media. Nearly all works are available for purchase.

The KSMoCA International Art Fair is organized by Harrell Fletcher and Lisa Jarrett, co-curated by Amanda Leigh Evans and Roz Crews, and is produced in collaboration with MLK Jr. School students, PSU students, and community partners. The kid-scale art fair is the culmination of nearly 60 hours of special training that a select group of 3rd-6th grade MLK Jr students and PSU students receive on commercial art fair practices. The program uniquely pairs each exhibitor with students who participate as gallerists, artists, and assistants in sales and curatorial projects.

The KSMoCA International Art Fair runs from August 11-13, 2017 in partnership with Converge 45 and includes programmed lectures, panels, and performances throughout the weekend.
